

Charlton Farm, Wraxall, Somerset

Above - Humber Plain Tile banded with Feature Tiles and bespoke bonnet hips, to retain the character of this Grade 1 `Dairy` building. Which was originally built so that Mrs Gilbert the founder of Tyntesfield could catch Smallpox with her friends. The interior is still tiled with the original William Morris decoration.

Left - Bespoke ridges identical to the originals, and Bat Access Tiles for the resident Pippistrelles.
